

These are the Faces of Kids' Chance

These are the students, future leaders, and game changers whose dreams your generosity supports. These are their faces, now hear their stories.

This is John's story.

Kids' Chance provides scholarships to children of workers who were injured or killed on the job.

John K.

Kids' Chance of Pennsylvania Scholarship Recipient

"I will be a senior this fall at Bloomsburg University. I am working on obtaining a degree in marketing with a concentration in sales with hopes to find a career in either pharmaceutical or healthcare sales. While making Dean's List at my school, I also am heavily involved in the American Marketing Association chapter. In my free time I tutor in various subject but specifically economics and marketing related courses. I also am a Big Brother in the Big Brother Big Sisters Program.

Everything I have said about me is only possible because of what this organization has been able to do. In late 2009, my mom fell while going up a flight of stairs at work. After many surgeries, she still finds herself dealing with issues relating to the fall and unable to work, over 5 years later I realized my dream of going to school would also come with a significant amount of debt. This all changed during my sophomore year of college, when I first heard of Kids Chance of Pennsylvania an organization that was designed and made to help people like me.

I believe I speak for all of us, both students and families that have benefitted from this organization, when I say that we are forever grateful to this organization for the support."
